MEMBERSHIP IN THE PENNSYLVANIA
HORTICULTURAL SOCIETY

THE Membership consists of Honorary, Life and Annual members. The Life membership fee is fifty dollars. Dues for Annual members are three dollars a year.

Members are privileged to vote at all elections, and are eligible to all offices.

They receive all publications of the Society; they have free use of the Library, and are entitled to admission to all Meetings, Lectures, and Exhibitions of the Society upon presentation of their Annual Membership Cards.

For the same Lectures and Exhibitions of the Society, they are entitled also to additional single admission tickets.

Robert C. Wright died December 6, 1924. He became a member of this Society in 1916, and was elected a member of the Executive Council in January, 1923.

He was foremost in all progressive movements for the betterment of this Society, and his energy and enthusiasm were most inspiring to his associates. He was dearly beloved by those who knew him intimately and admired and respected by all who came in contact with him.

Chronology of The Pennsylvania Horticultural Society

The Pennsylvania Horticultural Society, the oldest in America, was organized on November 24, 1827, at a meeting held in Franklin Institute, Seventh street below Market.

Thereafter meetings were held as follows :

December 14, 1827, at 131 Chestnut Street.

June 2, 1828, at 173 Chestnut Street.

August 4, 1828, to January, 1830, Hall of the American Philosophical Society.

January to May, 1830, Athenæum Hall, Chestnut Street.

May 3, 1830, Mrs. Mercier's, on Third Street.

May, 1830, to April, 1832, Phoenix Hall, Zane Street, now Filbert Street.

May, 1832, to May, 1833, 121 Chestnut Street (o. n.).

June, 1833, Hall of the American Philosophical Society.

July, 1833, to July, 1835, Athenæum Hall, Chestnut Street.

August, 1835, to March, 1837, Hall of the Franklin Institute.

April, 1837, Athenæum Hall, Chestnut Street.

1840, Philadelphia (Chinese) Museum, Chestnut Street.

July, 1854, Sansom Street Hall.

November, December, 1854, Assembly Building (Tenth and Chestnut Streets).

February, 1855, to December, 1861, Concert Hall (Chestnut Street above Twelfth).

January, 1862, Southwest corner Broad and Walnut Streets.

July, 1867, Horticultural Hall (Broad and Lardner Streets), to January 31, 1881, when building was destroyed by fire.

1881, after rebuilding, Horticultural Hall, to May, 1893, when building was again destroyed by fire.

1893, St. George's Hall, Thirteenth and Arch Streets.

1894, returned to Horticultural Hall, one room in the ruins having been repaired for temporary use for meetings.

1894, Hall of the College of Physicians, Thirteenth and Locust Streets.

1894, 1895, New Century Drawing Room, 124 South Twelfth Street.

June to November, 1896, College of Physicians, Thirteenth and Locust Streets.

July, 1923, until present time, 1600 Walnut Street.

Exhibitions

The first exhibition held by the Society was given November 3, 1828, in the hall of the American Philosophical Society, Sixth Street below Chestnut, and these displays were held regularly while the Society continued with this as a meeting place.

The Council was constituted a Committee to Offer Premiums for Competition on December 7, 1829, and on January 4, 1830, reported to the Society with premiums of $42 for vegetables and $81 for fruits.

The annual exhibitions, which were held often under novel circumstances, attracted wide attention, not only by the beauty of the displays, but because of the many new varieties of fruits and vegetables which they supplied to the markets.

A glance through the annals of the Society reveals, for instance, that the Poinsettia was exhibited for the first time at the Society Exhibition in June, 1829; that the first Dahlias were shown before the members in 1832, and that the seed of the Sugar Beet was introduced into the United States by the organization and distributed to its members in 1836.

In June, 1841, in answer to a petition submitted to city councils by the Pennsylvania Horticultural Society, the south side of Walnut street at Washington Square was portioned off for a Flower Market.

In 1855 when the twenty-seventh annual autumnal exhibition was in course of arrangement, it was decided to show the exhibits under a tent on Penn Square, on the site of the present Municipal Building. The exhibition of 1856 was held at the same place.

With the completion of Horticultural Hall in 1867 the opening was celebrated by an exhibition held on June 6. The displays continued to be given in this building until the hall was destroyed by fire January 31, 1881. The structure was rebuilt and again used by the Society for its flower shows until the second destruction by fire, May 27, 1893.

The new Horticultural Hall, Broad Street below Locust, opened in 1896 with the November Exhibition, and all subsequent displays were given there until June, 1917, when the property was sold.

The November exhibition, 1917, was held in the First Regiment Armory, Broad Street at Callowhill. No exhibition was held in 1918 on account of the World War.

In 1919 a small annual exhibition was held in Masonic Hall, Ardmore, Pa.

The 1920 annual exhibition was held in the First Regiment Armory.

Annual exhibitions of 1921 and 1922 were held at the Academy of Music.

In 1923 the principal exhibition was the Dahlia Show, held at the Cavalry Armory, Thirty-second Street and Lancaster Avenue.

In 1924, through the courtesy of the Trustees of The Pennsylvania Museum and the Commissioners of Fairmount Park, all the exhibitions in that year were held at Memorial Hall, Fairmount Park, and were free to the public.

To the Members of The Pennsylvania Horticultural Society

In reviewing the events of 1924 in which this Society participated, I find the following outstanding facts:

With the co-operation of The Florists Club of Philadelphia, the American Rose Society and the American Carnation Society, a most interesting, attractive and successful exhibition was held in the Commercial Museum on January 30 and 31, 1924. The hall was beautifully decorated and the display of Roses and Carnations as fine or finer than anything that has ever before been seen in Philadelphia. The retail florists erected very attractive exhibits of their own, which added greatly to the beauty of the show. The attendance averaged about 25,000 a day and, at times, it was necessary to close the doors to prevent over-crowding. Admission was by tickets, distributed by the different societies and the florists.

While searching for a suitable hall for our exhibitions, attention was called to Memorial Hall in Fairmount Park, and after consulting the officers of The Pennsylvania Museum and School of Industrial Art, we obtained their permission to use a large portion of that building for our exhibitions. The approval of the Commissioners of Fairmount Park to this arrangement was secured, and we decided to hold our Spring Show in this hall. We found, however, that the hall was without lights suitable for an evening display, and at the suggestion of the officers of The Pennsylvania Museum, we had proper electric lights installed at our expense. The show was very attractive, and the lighting for the evening a great success. Unfortunately, on account of the late season, there were very few Roses or Peonies, but the Four Patroness Garden Clubs made it very attractive with their interesting exhibits of table decorations, garden-wall niches, model houses and gardens, etc.

The Dahlia Show, September 26, 27 and 28, in Memorial Hall was also successful, and during the three days nearly 50,000 people inspected the beautiful flowers that were shown.

The Autumn Show was held November 7, 8 and 9, and was also very successful and beautiful. It was enjoyed by about 40,000 people.

Memorial Hall seems to be particularly well-suited for our exhibitions, and the beautiful paintings, tapestries, etc., furnish an attractive background and save us all cost of decoration. The Society is deeply indebted to The Pennsylvania Museum and School of Industrial Art and the Commissioners of Fairmount Park for the use of this beautiful hall and for their kind co-operation.

The Society's rooms, at 1600 Walnut Street, have proven very satisfactory in every way. They are attractive, convenient and comfortable, and the Council room has been in constant use by the horticultural clubs and societies in Philadelphia and vicinity.

The Library has secured many new and up-to-date books, and it is being used more and more every day. About 150 books were in circulation during the year, and a number of these were returned and loaned frequently. It is hoped that during 1925 it will be used to a still greater extent, and members are urged to visit the rooms and make themselves acquainted with the privileges to which they are entitled.

The lectures during the year were well attended and very satisfactory.

Two memorials were created in memory of William L. Schaffer: one was a specially-designed and beautiful Silver Cup, and the other a very handsome Gold Medal. The Cup will be awarded each year for some exhibit of special merit, and the Medal will be awarded annually to "the member of the Society who has done the most during the year to advance the interests of Horticulture in its broadest sense."

Arrangements were made for visits of members to some of the attractive gardens in the vicinity of Philadelphia; but, unfortunately, the Committee did not undertake the plan early enough to secure an extended and well-arranged list. It is hoped that more complete arrangements can be formulated for 1925.

The Society is to be congratulated on having the hearty co-operation of the Garden Club of Philadelphia, The Gardeners of Montgomery and Delaware Counties, The Weeders, The Four Counties Garden Club and The Florists Club of Philadelphia in their various undertakings.

A financial statement is submitted herewith.

JAMES BOYD,
President.
